THE Jefferson township fair Septem ber 11.

For Coroner-Dr. J W MASON.

THE candidates on the republican ticket represent the best type of manhood are honest, capable and deserving the party.

THE Jefferson township fair ought to outdo itself this year in the matter of crowd and exhibit. The prospects never seemed better at this time in the season.

No one can say but what the candidates on the republican ticket are all honorable, clean men. The convention that nominated them could not have done a better days work.

On this page we give brief biographies of the nominces of the republican state convention held at Jefferson city last month. White, Crane and Frauenthal have splendid records and democratic claims to the contrary. versity, Chicago University and Cook are just the kind of men we need in The Senator trankly admitted that county Normal school; he has been office in Missouri.

THE republican who puts himself in opposition to the present county ticket puts himself entirely outside the party. Without a single exception it is one of the best tickets ever nominated in the county and there is no valid excuse for any republican being "agin" it.

Meadville's hospitality is well known and there is no fear has been aroused by the report that but what on this occasion she will the President has selected Repfully maintain her past splendid rep utation.

THERE are many reasons why the control of the Missouri administration should pass to the republican organization, the chief among them being that a continuance in power of the same party for thirty-four years is certain to foster abuses. The demoeratic machine has now grown so bold in perverting the rights of the people that a change is bound to come soon, and the sooner the better.

BARNEY FRAUENTHAL.

Barney Frauenthal, the short term man for the railroad commissionership is a Pennsylvanian by birth. He is has lived in Missouri 25 years, and nearly all that time has been employed at the Union depot in St. Louis. He began work as a telegrapher and continued in that until the present Union station was opened, when he was placed in the burevu of information. There he answers questions almost limitless in number. He is a married man and has three children, two daughters and a son. The boy is four years old and is developing the same aptitude for asking questions that his father displays in answering them, and this boy of whom Barney likes to talk, can ask almost as many questions as are propounded of his father, and can come more nearly "stumping" him, too,

Mr. Frauenthal says his bureau window is a good place to campaign, and that much of his work along that line will be conducted from it.
